tempo collection by la mamba

Tempo es un proyecto que surge de la combinación de ligereza, modularidad y confort en el exterior, creando situaciones de relax y desconexión. La estructura de aluminio con cuerda entrelazada es el hilo conductor de toda la colección. Un diseño envolvente que se acompaña de grande cojines acolchados con la finalidad de sentirse recogido.

Tempo is a project that emerge from the combination of lightness, modularity and comfort on the outdoors, creating situations of relax and disconnection. The aluminum structure with the weaved rope is the common thread of the entire collection. An enveloping design that is accompanied by large quilted cushions in order to feel wrapped.

lenis collection by robin hapelt

Lenis pretende romper con los esquemas convencionales de teca y cuerda, infundiendo un toque único a estilos de muebles de teca ya explorados. El resultado es una colección contemporánea inspirada en la forma de una gota de agua, que combina redondez y nitidez. Este diseño minimiza el uso de teca a la vez que introduce un toque étnico que le confiere el fuerte carácter a la colección.

Lenis aims to break away from conventional teak and rope schemes, infusing a unique touch to already explored teak furniture styles. The result is a contemporary collection inspired by the shape of a drop of water, which combines roundness and sharpness. This design minimizes the use of teak while introducing an ethnic touch that gives the collection a strong character.

Robin Hapelt tiene sus raíces en Alemania y Suiza, pero vive y trabaja la mayor parte del tiempo en el sudeste asiático. “Desde mi primera estancia, el ratán me ha fascinado, las posibilidades que ofrece este material, así como el procesamiento artesanal que como europeo desconocía”. Ambos países influyen en él: “Vida urbana con muchas influencias modernas en Alemania y artesanía y tradición en Suiza”.

Hemos comprendido que es importante desarrollar todo en armonía con la naturaleza. La clave es ‘cradle to cradle’ (de la cuna a la cuna), utilizando materiales que no explotan los recursos de nuestra Tierra ni contribuyen a su contaminación.

Robin Hapelt has his roots in Germany and Switzerland, but lives and works most of the time in Southeast Asia. “Since my first stay, rattan has fascinated me, along with the possibilities this material offers, as well as the craftsmanship, which was unknown to me as a European in this form,” says the German-Swiss designer. Both countries influence him: “Urban life with many modern influences in Germany and craftsmanship and tradition in Switzerland.”

We have understood that it is important to develop everything in harmony with nature. The keyword is ‘cradle to cradle,’ using materials that neither exploit the resources of our Earth nor contribute to its pollution.

Apasionada por el diseño y el entorno, intento crear conceptos innovadores y frescos. Parto de una idea que seduzca al cliente y la moldeo dependiendo de su función y estética. Cada producto que diseño es diferente en su concepto y en su forma, aportando nuevos materiales que den forma y color al diseño para que sea funcional y fácil de entender.
